

Medical Student as Teacher: A Virtual Elective to Prepare you for Medical Education and Academic Medicine from Classroom to Clinic

This 4th year, 2 week longitudinal (Sept 27 & Oct 10, evening) elective course introduces you to up-to-date general topics in health professions education as well as the knowledge, skills, and attitudes necessary for teaching today's adult millennial medical learners. In an effective, interactive 3-hr "bootcamp-style" setting we will discuss the basics of medical education theory and practice through 3-hour didactic/interact over the course of two weeks. Participants will be encouraged to explore and reflect upon what it means to pursue a career as a "medical educator and demonstrate their acquired competence through conducting brief presentations of an individual novel curricular program. The rotation is supervised by national and international expert faculty in medical education, Drs. Schlegel and Fornari. Expert faculty and guest lecturers will be invited for topics of educational theory, simulation, and scholarship. Would you like to learn more?
